OVERVIEW:

THE BLANK TAPES is the moniker of Los Angeles based multi-instrumentalist and producer, Matt Adams, who has produced over a dozen albums of 1960's inspired folk-rock-surf-psych-soul-pop on Volcom, Burger Records, Antenna Farm, and many others. Their new album "Candy" was produced by Eric D Johnson (of The Fruit Bats) at his home studio in Portland, OR featuring bandmates Will Halsey of "Sugar Candy Mountain" & Veronica Bianqui as well as EDJ himself. The Blank Tapes have toured throughout America, Canada, Brazil, UK, Europe, & Japan. Matt is also the visual artist behind his band's (and a slew of others) posters & album covers.

"50s and '60s pop classics with ramshackle warmth." - SPIN

"Yoke a garage-pop sensibility to ferocious rock riffs." - THE NEW YORKER

"Perfectly classic sound." - SF BAY GUARDIAN

"Awesome every time." - LA WEEKLY
