RELEASE BIO

Peter Stringer-Hye hails from Nashville, TN - a town that is no stranger to music. Having cut his teeth in local garage & psychedelic bands such as D. Watusi & (Trouble In Mind alums) The Paperhead, Stringer-Hye takes a side step, revealing a strong caché of solo material with his debut solo release, the "Sunday Girls" EP.

Kicking off with the title track, "Sunday Girls" bops along familiar territory for Stringer-Hye, conjuring up whispers of UK popside as well as late-Sixties folk & Americana, punctuated by a stinging guitar solo. "When My Eyes Are Closed" ends the first side; a wistful folk-rocker, whose jangling guitars hearken across decades of music from the late Sixties, thru the present day. Side B kicks off with "Girl With No Name", loping off the grooves with a sensitive grace, before Stringer-Hye launches into a solo worthy of the hottest of Nashville session players. The EP closes with "Throw Away The Day", a fitting ender & a jaunty country rocker with hope & yearning for the future & the possibilities it holds. Expect big things from Stringer-Hye in 2016.

The "Sunday Girls" EP is pressed in an edition of 500 copies, comes housed in a full-color picture sleeve & includes a download code.
